A "large broadcast" is not defined by the number of recipients, but rather by the length of time it takes to complete, so what is considered a large broadcast may vary from account to account. When checked, you can use the drop-down to specify how often you would like to be emailed about the progress of the send.

For example, if you specified "15 minutes" and a send took 32 minutes, you would be notified of the progress three times, at 15 and 30 minutes, as well as when the send completes.
