Using Beefree Content

At a high level, using a Content block in Beefree is a simple matter of dragging the Content you want onto a Row in your message. You can then click in it to customize it to your taste.

In the interest of minimizing redundancy and potentially providing outdated information, more details should be found directly on Beefree's Help Center documentation. Some links are below:

- Beefree offers Beefree Academy, a series of tutorials you can register for to get you creating templates quickly.
- Beefree's Help Center main page may be found here.
- This article focuses specifically on building content in Beefree.
